No.8

Title 8 is a powerful title. Selection 8 was coordinated with the issue of this magazine so that I could show most of the designs I drew with the slogan "Draw a Line" in this issue of the magazine. Sometimes broken lines indicate the psychosis of the designer and creator of the work, but with a little care it can be understood that the period I was designing was a time when everything in my land was scary and terrible. Sometimes my friends betrayed me and I had to deal with it again. Relate to those who were my best friends. But fortunately I have not been in contact with straight friends for some time and I have had a comfortable and hassle-free rest in general. Far from the questions that always asked me gay, so this was a collection of people who had an impact on my life. And they were all straight and maybe they never understood me. I was a man who worshiped my homosexuality as a man, but I was always ridiculed by my friends. Well, a period has passed and I still have the slogan of the rainbow and the flag of the bears in my head.

Hoping that day .
